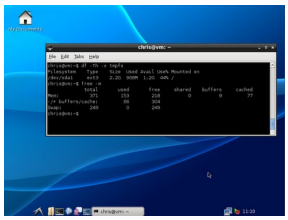
Masonux 9.10 Beta 2 is released. Masonux is based on the latest Ubuntu 9.10 release and is targetted at netbook users.



According to the developer this Beta release is an unpolished abomination, but it will have a christmas-themed default wallpaper.

Remarks:

the Login Window is a little wonky... make sure you select LXDE as the session. This is a beta, so do not install it on a production machine.
On a related note: the install icon itself doesn't work. Entering "ubiquity" in a terminal works, though.

Head over here for the Masonux site.

You can download Masonux 9.10 Beta 2 here .